

Telim'Gar's Insurmountable Challenges

This module offers you a dozen arenas to explore in order to reach the final arena, where you'll face Telim'gar himself.

To get started, go talk to the Challenge Golem on the bridge. He'll offer to send you to eleven arenas listed in order of (relative) difficulty, but without explaining exactly what each one entails.

Each arena is a new map from PST with its own set of rules. In some, you'll face obstacles that are easy to handle—or, on the contrary, downright nasty: if you find one of the challenges impossible, just know this—this module is merciless, so there's no point in complaining.

There are a few things you should know about challenges:

- Once you enter, you can't leave until you find the rune to exit (usually held by the boss, but not always).
- The arenas are filled with monsters, each with a random improvement. There are 58 possible improvements—some insignificant, others formidable. Pause the game and take a good look at what you're up against.
- Monsters are immune to area-of-effect damage from other monsters and traps.
- You don't have to kill all the monsters to reach the boss. Sometimes the boss is on the map from the start. Sometimes it appears later. Sometimes it's hidden; you have to find it... each map has its own rules regarding its boss.
- Monsters prevent you from sleeping simply by being there. But you can always “clear” a corner of the area and sleep there.
- Spellcasting monsters use the base game's scripts as much as possible so they can be enhanced by SCS.

Once you've successfully completed all eleven challenges, the Challenge Golem will invite you to face his master: the final arena awaits you—good luck.
